A free festive feast for residents

Hundreds of local people aged 65 and over gathered to take part in Council's free Christmas meal events this December

The borough's senior residents were full of festive cheer as they tucked into traditional turkey lunches and dinners at Waltham Forest Council's free Christmas meal events.

The popular annual events, which took place earlier this month, saw local people aged 65 and over gather together to welcome in the festive season.

There were four Christmas events in total – one at Leyton Orient Football Club, two at Walthamstow Assembly Hall and one at Chingford Assembly Hall – attracting more than a thousand older residents.

Attendee Valerie Card and her friend, Patricia Southan, both proclaimed the Walthamstow event as: "absolutely brilliant." They said it was also a great chance to catch up with friends and meet new people in the borough.

Lifelong Walthamstow resident

John Patient, pictured right, told Waltham Forest News: "I've been lucky to attend multiple Christmas meals over the years at Leyton Orient and Walthamstow and can't fault them at all. For the Council to be able to continue to host these events in light of financial pressures is brilliant. It's a really enjoyable day for everybody."

Waltham Forest Council Leader, Chris Robbins, told Waltham Forest News: "Events like the free Christmas dinners are fantastic occasions that celebrate our senior residents and acknowledge the valuable contribution they make to the Waltham Forest community."

Water works at Walthamstow Wetlands

Cllr Clare Coghill takes to the water to survey the latest stage of work to transform Walthamstow Wetlands.

The latest stage to transform Walthamstow Wetlands into the largest wetland nature reserve in London will see the creation of new reed beds to help preserve water quality and improve wildlife habitats.

The wetlands site remains one of Thames Water's biggest sources of London's drinking water and is the largest fishery in the city, as well as being a site of international importance for wildlife.

Cllr Clare Coghill, Cabinet Member for Economic Growth and High Streets, said: "Preserving the delicate balance of biodiversity is central to this project. It's really important that at the same time as encouraging more local residents to take advantage of this beautiful corner of the borough, we don't lose sight of the fact this is home to a diverse range of wildlife."

The project has been spearheaded by the Council, which secured £4.47million of funds from the Heritage Lottery Fund last year. They have further supplemented this with just over £1million, with another £1.84million from site owners Thames Water and £750,000 from the Greater London Authority.

The Wetlands will open to the public in Spring 2017, under the day-to-day management of the London Wildlife Trust.

In my opinion

Detective Chief Superintendent
Richard Tucker

Borough Commander Waltham Forest Police

Since taking over as Borough Commander of Waltham Forest in September, I can firmly say that I have joined a committed team that is focused on making Waltham Forest a safe place to live, work and visit.

I am extremely proud of my officers, and their bravery in responding to the recent incident at Leytonstone Tube Station. I can assure you that this is a very rare incident, and we will continue to work with our partners to ensure Waltham Forest remains a safe place.

Waltham Forest continues to be the leading borough in London when it comes to tackling crime, with a 31 per cent reduction in crime this year, compared to figures from 2014. In real terms, this means that we have 4,372 less victims of crime and that is down to the hard work of my team and the strong partnership we have with Waltham Forest Council.

As we strive to continue with this reduction in crime, we will be faced with challenges in the future which will shape how we function as a police service. And so I urge you to continue to support and work with us, to make sure that we keep Waltham Forest a safe place.

At this time of year, we see the cold weather arrive and celebrations take place over Christmas and the holiday season. It is important that we remain vigilant not only at home but also while out and about, enjoying ourselves with family and friends.

Whether it is ensuring that our homes, property and vehicles are safe and secure or reporting any suspicious circumstances in relation to terrorism, I ask that you stay safe and make us aware of any incidents so that we can continue to provide the level of service that Waltham Forest is used to.

By working together we can continue with our excellent performance, and also review and identify where we can improve further still. The prevention of crime is key and I ask that you take steps to secure your property and deter any opportunist thieves. If you do this, then we can work together to drive down offences and bring offenders to justice. We are your police service and we are here to work for you. Working together with the Council, we can make sure that Waltham Forest remains the safest place in London.

I wish you and your families a very Merry Christmas, a fantastic holiday season and a happy and healthy New Year.

Christmas opening hours

During the Christmas holiday, there may be some changes to Council services that might affect you, for example when you can visit your nearest library.

A full list – from opening hours at leisure centres, to information about Christmas parking arrangements – is available on the Council website, which is updated regularly.

Refuse and recycling

Refuse and recycling collections will take place as normal up to and including Thursday 24 December. Collections usually scheduled for Christmas Day will be made on Monday 28 December, while most other collections will take place a day later than normal. For example, if your refuse and recycling is normally collected on a Monday, you should leave it out on Tuesday 29 December instead. Collections that would otherwise take place on Thursday 31 December and Friday 1 January will be made on Saturday 2 January and Monday 4 January respectively. All collections will return to normal from Monday 11 January.

Local reuse and recycling centres will be open except for Christmas Day, Boxing Day and New Year's Day.

If you have a real Christmas tree you can place it next to your brown bin after the holidays and the Council will take it away. You should make full use of your brown and green bins over the festive season. For a quick, at-a-glance guide to what you should 'feed' your bins, and when you should put them out for collection, turn to the advert on the back page.

Call centre

The Council's contact centre, 020 8496 3000, will be open from 9am to 5pm, as normal, until Christmas Eve. It will then be closed from Friday 25 to Tuesday 29 December and on New Year's Day, providing an emergency service only on these days.

Streets and parking

There will be two hours free parking in all town centre car parks at the weekends throughout December and free parking in all town centre car parks after 3pm Monday to Friday throughout December. The car parks included are Bedford Road E17, Brandon Road E17, Church Lane E11, Hall Lane E4, High Street E17, Linford Road E17, Mission Grove E17, Richmond Road E4, South Grove E17 and Stanley Road E10.

Motorists will also be pleased to hear that no parking enforcement will take place on 25, 27 and 28 December or 1 January. No vehicles will be removed from the highway after 12.30pm on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

Libraries

On Christmas Day, Boxing Day

and New Year's Day all Waltham Forest Libraries will be closed. But on Christmas Eve, and from Monday 28 December to Thursday 31 December, all four Library Plus branches (Chingford, Leyton, Leytonstone and Walthamstow) will be open from 9am to 5pm and local libraries (Hale End, Higham Hill, Lea Bridge and Wood Street) will be open from 10am to 5pm. And while local libraries will be closed on Sunday 27 December, the four Library Pluses will operate their regular Sunday opening times, which vary by library. All libraries will revert to their regular opening times on Saturday 2 January.

Mini-Holland consultation

Thanks to over 700 of you who gave your views and suggestions in the last part of the Lea Bridge Road Mini-Holland consultation (Bakers Arms to Wood Street section). This feedback will now be carefully analysed and considered as part of our final designs and where we can, we'll incorporate your suggestions. Where we can't, we'll try to explain the reasons why. As the Mini-Holland scheme is funded by Transport for London (TfL), they need to approve our plans so we'll show them the consultation results and revised plans over the coming weeks. We expect to update residents on the next steps in early 2016 and should have more detail by then about what the scheme will look like and how your feedback has helped shape it. In the meantime you can still view the consultation plans on the different parts of the Lea Bridge scheme by visiting <https://lbrproposals.commonplace.is/>. Coming up next in the Mini-Holland programme will be consultations for works in Leyton and Leytonstone town centres.

Delivering Christmas cheer

Council leader, Chris Robbins, met Delivery Office Manager Matthew Scott and other postal staff on a recent visit to Royal Mail's Walthamstow Delivery Office

As 2015 draws to a close the last Council meeting before Christmas on Thursday 17 December was a time to reflect on the year almost gone and the challenges and opportunities of the new one to come.

Indeed this theme was very much reflected as Council Leader Chris Robbins' summed up just some of the achievements of 2015.

Obviously there was a particular sense of achievement around The Scene at Cleveland Place, which just last month won yet another award.

The Scene had partially opened by this time last year, but over the past 12 months it has come on leaps and bounds, with all the restaurant units now occupied and doing swift trade, hundreds of new residents calling The Scene home and the cinema proving incredibly popular and well-used.

Chris told Waltham Forest News: "Not only is the borough capable of delivering such large scale regeneration projects, but we are now set up to take a far more sophisticated approach to investment in Waltham Forest.

"The establishment of our Investment Board that drives multi million pound investments around the borough in partnership with the private sector came out of the Growth Commission and their report on the future of the borough.

"From projects like the new Coronation Square in Leyton that will see new homes, a new leisure facility and a new town square, to the thousands of new homes planned for Blackhorse Lane, the Wetlands Project and reopening of Lea Bridge Road station, there are exciting times ahead."

Ultimately it all comes back to the people of Waltham Forest and at this time of year it was brought into no keener focus than when Chris paid a visit to Waltham Forest's 'posties' at the Royal Mail's Walthamstow Delivery Office.

Chris saw first-hand the hard work and dedication of local postal workers to sort and deliver festive mail for the borough's residents and businesses.

Samaritans appeal for volunteers

Waltham Forest Samaritans is appealing for residents to volunteer a few hours each week to help people find their own way through their problems. Samaritans provides confidential, non-judgemental emotional support. People can contact the Samaritans by phone, text, email or by visiting the local branch. Samaritans give people the time and space to talk about how they're feeling, without judgement, prejudice or giving advice. Volunteers simply act as a sounding board to those who may otherwise not have anyone else to talk to or help. Those who would like to listen receive extensive training and support. If you don't feel listening is for you, there are lots of other ways you can help keep the Waltham Forest branch running. If you're interested in finding out more, you can go along to one of two information sessions at the branch office (663 Lea Bridge Road, E10 6AL) in January. The first is on Wednesday 6 January at 6.30pm, while the second takes place at 8pm on Thursday 14 January.

4 Priorities

Cultural and Christmas celebrations

The Council is doing all it can to ensure residents stay healthy, are happy and love life in Waltham Forest. Here, we highlight a handful of events, activities and offers available to help you enjoy a good quality of life.

Urban artists from Wood Street Walls are painting three Star Wars inspired murals

Residents joined the Council for carol concerts at Coronation Gardens, Leyton and Walthamstow Assembly Hall

A blue plaque has been unveiled on the former home of Star Wars legend Stuart Freeborn

We think Waltham Forest is a fantastic place to live, which is why we're committed to doing all we can to bring our vibrant and diverse communities together in celebration.

We all enjoyed a spectacular summer full of free, family-friendly festivals and fairs in Waltham Forest, and we're not slowing down as we gear up for an equally exciting 2016. It's not even Christmas yet and this month has already seen a variety of festive events for young and old alike – as well as a few unique cultural attractions that you don't see every day.

Star Wars

Star Wars became Star Walls on Saturday 12 December, as Waltham Forest took part in an out-of-this-world event celebrating the work of a former Leytonstone resident, whose work helped shape the intergalactic saga's original trilogy.

Grove Green Road was invaded by Stormtroopers and other costumed-characters from the iconic film franchise as we unveiled Star Wars inspired wall murals and installed a blue heritage plaque at the former home of Stuart Freeborn, the British make-up artist who was responsible for creating characters like Chewbacca and Yoda.

Just days before the 17 December cinematic release of Star Wars Episode VII: The Force Awakens, the plaque unveiling was the main attraction in a free event featuring all-things Star Wars.

As part of the celebrations, specially-commissioned Star Wars-themed murals created by urban artists Wood Street Walls were revealed to the public for the first time. There was also an art exhibition and family activities.

Archives online

We published a unique photo archive documenting the history of Waltham Forest online for the first time this month, with all photos available to order as high-quality prints.

The photo archive, which is looked after by the Council-run Vestry House Museum, goes back to the 1840s and covers Chingford, Leyton, Leytonstone and Walthamstow.

It contains over 500 historic images of the borough's streets and buildings – including landmark churches, shops and pubs – as well as portraits of local personalities and community celebrations.

The images can be searched by date, area or theme and purchased as high quality prints in a variety of sizes – perfect for Christmas presents. All proceeds from print sales will support Vestry House Museum's programme of exhibitions, events and educational projects.

50th birthday

As part of Waltham Forest's 50th birthday celebrations – marking the borough's formation in 1965 when the former Municipal Boroughs of Chingford, Leyton and Walthamstow were merged – the Council commissioned four local artists to produce exciting artworks representing the area's four main towns.

Having been on display in Walthamstow's Vestry House Museum in October and November, their creations, which capture the people and the place that inspired them, are being exhibited at The Space, in Leytonstone Library, until Thursday 31 December. But don't worry, because if you can't make it there in time to see what Lorraine Ward, Brendon O'Hanlon, Sharon Foster and Sba Shaikh produced, the display will be coming to Leyton and Chingford in early 2016.

Festive fun

Once again, we put on free carol concerts this year in Coronation Gardens and outside Walthamstow Assembly Hall to help residents feel suitably festive.

Elsewhere, there were a variety of activities going on as part of Highams Park Christmas Fayre. The recent event, which is run in partnership with The Highams Park Planning Group, featured a farmers market, arts and crafts, a torch lit Christmas cycle parade and community carols along with mulled wine and mince pies.

And, on Sunday 13 December, the Council hosted an evening to celebrate Hanukkah – the Jewish Festival of Light – at Waltham Forest Town Hall. The event saw the eighth candle on the Hanukiah lit, and guests enjoy live klezmer music and kosher refreshments.

Children's gifts

A party was thrown for Waltham Forest's looked-after children earlier this month, following a police appeal that called on kind-hearted residents to donate gifts.

Part of the Metropolitan Police's Christmas Tree Project, the initiative aimed to ensure that every child in care across London receives a present – brightening up Christmas for children who may not have had the easiest start in life.

A special Christmas tree decorated with tags representing each looked after child in Waltham Forest was placed outside Chingford Police Station. Tags were removed from the tree as gifts were donated, with presents then wrapped before being given to a looked after child or young person up to 17 years of age.

In brief

20mph zone

Three years ago the Council committed to making all residential streets in the borough 20mph to reduce casualties on local roads. The scheme has already been successfully implemented in the borough south of the North Circular (A406), and is now to be rolled out north of the A406 as far as Hall Lane and New Road. It follows a consultation with nearly 12,000 homes in south Chingford and Highams Park, which revealed that the majority of respondents supported the scheme.

• Useful information from the Council's Road Safety Unit is available on the Council's website at www.walthamforest.gov.uk/road-safety. Free internet access is available at all libraries in the borough.

Dog bite

A dog owner was fined £200 and ordered to pay legal costs of £1,240 after his pet was found to be dangerously out of control in a public place. Waltham Forest Council successfully prosecuted Mr Laurence Kroble, of Falmouth Avenue, Chingford at Thames Magistrates' Court on Friday 27 November following an incident in Falmouth Avenue on 9 June 2015 that resulted in a member of the public being bitten. Mr Kroble was prosecuted under Section 3 of the Dangerous Dogs Act. Waltham Forest Council is the only borough in London to actively enforce the Dangerous Dogs Act.

• For more information on the Dog Enforcement Team visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/animal-welfare or phone 020 8496 3000.

Free internet access is available at all libraries in the borough.

Flight paths

The Civil Aviation Authority has announced that London City Airport will be given permission to use new technology that will create a much narrower flight corridor over the south of the borough, subjecting residents to planes flying over as often as every three minutes. The news comes in spite of an outcry by Waltham Forest Council and opposition from concerned local residents and interest groups. A consultation exercise into the proposals was heavily criticised by local MP John Cryer and the Mayor of London amongst others.

• For more information visit City Airport's website at www.londoncityairport.com Free internet access is available at all libraries in the borough.

The Council has agreed seven new 'Parking Pledges'

New parking arrangements

- Seven new pledges include new permit rates and conditions
- One hour of free parking to be introduced in town centres

Like much of London, Waltham Forest's roads were not designed to cope with the high level of car use that has become the norm today. With only a limited amount of kerb space, residents have become increasingly concerned about their ability to park near their home and in our town centres.

As a result, Waltham Forest Council agreed a new Parking Strategy at their Cabinet Meeting on Tuesday 15 December. It adopted seven 'Parking Pledges' to ensure fairness – providing those in most need with free permits, charging less to residents with low CO2 emission vehicles, and allowing school staff to park – ensuring we are attracting the best teachers.

While remaining among the cheapest in London, some residents will pay more for their parking permits. In many cases this simply allows the charge to cover the operational costs and in all cases it will mean a more consistent structure.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Environment, told Waltham Forest News: "The seven new pledges will ensure parking services are convenient, cost effective, modern and in line with the needs of our residents, businesses and visitors.

"The changes include maintaining one of the lowest cost resident permits in London, introducing a new scheme allowing school staff to park within Controlled Parking Zones (CPZs), and incentivising the take up of low CO2 emission vehicles in order to improve air quality.

Importantly, all monies raised will be spent on improving transport in Waltham Forest – from fixing potholes to subsidising bus routes and maintaining car parks.

"The work we have been doing through our Mini-Holland Programme to encourage residents to walk or cycle to town centres has previously been complemented by our free 15 minutes of parking in PayByPhone bays for those who need to drive.

"However, since Government introduced a ten minute grace period, that scheme has become too confusing to maintain. Therefore, from April 2016 we're offering one hour of free parking from 1pm to 2pm in PayByPhone bays in town centres so that residents can continue to enjoy local shops." Opposition Councillors have requested that this last proposal be considered in more detail, and accordingly the Council's Overview and Scrutiny Committee will look at it early in the New Year before submitting recommendations to Cabinet for final approval.

More info

For more information, visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/parking.

Fact file

The seven new Parking Pledges to be introduced in April 2016 are:

- One hour of free parking from 1–2pm in town centre PayByPhone bays (subject to scrutiny and approval).
- Keep the cost of your first standard permit within the lowest 30 per cent in London, while still covering operating costs. To do this, prices will increase from £25 to £35 per year. We will continue to give free permits to registered carers.
- Modernise the way you pay to park to make it easier, cheaper and quicker for residents.
- Continue to roll out our CPZ programme in line with resident demand, and spend any surplus income in the ward that it was generated.
- Cover the operational cost of issuing and enforcing Visitor Parking Permits, and continue to give one free booklet to new parents and residents over 60.
- Incentivise the take up of low emission vehicles to improve air quality by gradually introducing CO2 emission based permits in line with DVLA emission bandings.
- Introduce a new school staff permit to allow registered school staff to park within a CPZ during term time.

Christmas crackdown

- Council on the lookout for dodgy toys on sale in the borough
- Unsafe 'hoverboards' are top of the Trading Standards team hit list

The Council is checking local shops for unsafe 'hoverboards' similar to this example

Everyone's looking for a bargain in the build up to Christmas, but don't be fooled into parting with your cash for something that may be dangerous to you or your children.

Earlier this month Waltham Forest Council's Trading Standards officers hit the streets of the borough on the lookout for unsafe toys, with this year's 'must have' – hoverboards – being top of their list.

The National Trading Standards Board reported in early December that 17,000 hoverboards had been examined at UK ports since the middle of October and 88 per cent were deemed to be unsafe. One of the main safety issues is that the hoverboards' chargers and plugs are often not safely constructed. Many units fail to recognise when the board has fully charged, leading to plugs overheating – resulting in a substantial fire risk.

During a day of action, the Council's Trading Standards Service visited 13 premises and came across five suspect boards. One retailer voluntarily surrendered the only board he had in stock. Examination of four boards in another store left officers dissatisfied with their safety. A 'suspension notice' was served, meaning that the shop cannot sell, supply or move the boards from the premises and the trader will now need to prove that the goods comply with safety standards.

But it's not just flash electronic equipment that can be harmful, earlier in the month the Council's Street Trading Inspectors informed their colleagues in Trading Standards of concerns regarding a stall on Walthamstow Market.

Trading Standards officers visited the stall and subsequently seized nine teddy bears that were deemed to be unsafe. The stuffing of the bear was easily accessible via a zip at its rear, proving a choking hazard, and the ribbon around its neck had the potential to strangle a young child.

The soft toys contravened Toy Safety Regulations and were placed in evidence bags. The stall holder was advised that he would be invited to the Council offices for a formal interview under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act (PACE).

At the time the stall holder said that he had purchased the teddy bears from a seller who had approached his stall. He said that he did not have any contact details for this seller and that he had not sold any of the teddy bears before they were seized.

The funding – from Transport for London (TfL) – will allow work with people of all ages within the borough to improve their confidence to cycle on the roads. Each programme will last for five weeks with sessions lasting an hour and a half. Sessions start in January and will run between 2016 and 2018.

We love Leytonstone!

Thousands of residents and visitors turned out to enjoy the Leytonstone Big Weekender in September

Waltham Forest was shocked by the events on the evening of Saturday 5 December which left one man seriously injured, another two injured and many more residents traumatised following a knife attack at Leytonstone tube station.

While we come to terms with what happened as a community and get a better understanding about the motivations of the individual involved, what was clear was how the community rallied together.

From the police responding to the call and arresting the individual within eight minutes and an off-duty junior doctor – Matt Smith – administering lifesaving first aid at the scene, to residents taking to social media to celebrate all that is great about Leytonstone, this horrific incident has helped bring people from all walks of life closer together.

At a Full Council meeting held on Thursday 17 December, it was unanimously decided that Council Leader, Chris Robbins, and Chief Executive, Martin Esom, would write to the two Waltham Forest residents who tackled the suspect, as well as the off-duty junior doctor who assisted the victim, to thank them for their bravery and support.

They will also thank the Waltham Forest Borough Commander and his officers, particularly those who responded to the initial emergency call, and Detective Superintendent, Dr Jackie Sebire, who directed the response.

Council Leader, Chris Robbins, told Waltham Forest News: "I went to Leytonstone the next day, and it was good to see everyone going about their business as usual. Even though residents were obviously concerned about the events that had taken place, they were resilient and getting along with one another as normal."

"Waltham Forest is one of the most diverse areas of the country in one of the most diverse cities on earth, where 87 per cent of our residents think that we are a place where people of different backgrounds get on well together. This is one of the reasons that life was able to carry on as normal."

Detective Superintendent, Dr Jackie Sebire, told Waltham Forest News: "Police arrived on the scene within minutes of the emergency calls being received."

"The bravery of those members of the public who provided first aid and assistance to the victim as well as those who tried to engage with the suspect are to be commended. In such a high risk situation to their own safety they displayed great courage and civic responsibility."

"I am immensely proud of the professionalism of the responding officers from Waltham Forest's police emergency response team B.

"Whilst this is a concerning incident highlighting the need for vigilance, the officers and members of the public who acted so bravely should be thanked and commended for their actions. Waltham Forest police will continue to work with all our partners to ensure the safety of people living, working and visiting the borough."

A 29-year-old man from Leytonstone has been remanded in custody, accused of attempted murder for the attack. He will next appear in court on Monday 7 March 2016, and a provisional trial date has been set for May 2016. Following claims from the suspect's family, the Council can confirm that it was not the local authority that was contacted regarding his mental health.

The 56-year-old man who suffered serious stab wounds during the attack is recovering in a London hospital.

Waltham Forest News headed out to speak to residents, visitors and businesses to ask them what they love most about Leytonstone

Zoe James, from Leytonstone

"It's got the space to live in – we came from Hackney and we've got a lot more space to live in here. Our road is lovely and our neighbours are nice, it's a really friendly little community."

Alexandre Martins, originally from Portugal and working at Printing.com in Leytonstone

"One of the things I like most is the people – it's a friendly and diverse community. Me and my girlfriend share a flat with another couple, they are Australian and they are the nicest people we know."

Laura Lea, from Laura Lea Design in Leytonstone

"It is wicked – I've lived here for three years. There are a lot of artists and designers here. It has such an amazing artistic community – people get involved, they care about each other, and I would never live anywhere else."

Alasdair Smith, from Leytonstone

"It's a diverse, multi-racial, working class area that has a good tradition of resisting war and racism. It's got a great community feel but it's a community that's under-resourced – the Government should be spending a lot more on things like education here."

Monique Knight, visiting Leytonstone from New Zealand

"It's lovely here – the diversity and the different shops – from where I come from it's very different. I would like to say thanks to the local people here – they've just been beautiful and I'm so grateful I came here."

Pawan Dhandra, from Natures Choice Health Food Store in Leytonstone

"The atmosphere around here is very peaceful. I think it's definitely become nicer over the years – a couple of years ago the high street was not looking as good, there have been a lot of improvements there."

In brief

Residents enjoy the Christmas Twilight Market

Twilight Market

Residents enjoyed a feast of festive fun at the Walthamstow Twilight Market earlier this month, with two special Christmas markets taking place after dark. Visitors saw the Town Square (High Street, E17 7JN) turn into a winter wonderland, with free face painting, Father Christmas, Christmas stilt walkers, buskers, arts, crafts, food and drink and more. Since its launch in September, residents have been visiting E17 to enjoy the monthly Twilight Market, which aims to support the local evening economy established by the award-winning The Scene at Cleveland Place. The project will also give opportunities for local designers and creatives to showcase their wares, and bring street food and entertainment to the Town Square in the evenings. The Twilight Market is set to resume in spring 2016. Keep an eye out for further information.

EMD pub

The foyer of the EMD cinema in Walthamstow (186 Hoe Street, E17 4QH) has been converted into a pop-up pub – 'Mirth, Marvel and Maud' – by its new owners, Antic. It's a great opportunity for borough residents to check out this amazing grade 2* listed space in the run up to Christmas. The building has been closed to the public for more than a decade. There continues to be a longer term aspiration to bring the building back into use, and the Council is expecting owners Antic to submit a planning and listed building application in the New Year.

Walthamstow's coming up

- New developments proposed for Walthamstow town centre and South Grove
- Last restaurant opens in The Scene as the development wins another award

The Scene at Cleveland Place has proved a great success since opening in November 2014

There was a big welcome for Yum Yum as it became the final restaurant to open its doors at The Scene alongside Turtle Bay, Pizza Express, Nando's and Grillstock. The award-winning classic Thai cuisine will complement the other offerings that are proving so popular with Waltham Forest residents.

The news comes hot on the heels of the announcement of yet more awards for The Scene at Cleveland Place, as Hill Housing Group scooped a variety of gongs at the WhatHouse? Awards. It included a partnership award recognising their work with Waltham Forest Council and Islington and Shoreditch Housing Association.

Hill scooped awards for 'Best Partnership Scheme', 'Best Brownfield Site' and 'Best Development' and went on to win an additional four awards, including 'Best Medium Housebuilder' and the top prize of 'WhatHouse? Housebuilder of the Year'.

Hill Chief Executive, Andy Hill, said: "We were absolutely delighted to pick up a string of awards. It was a particularly great evening for The Scene – our ground-breaking development in Walthamstow and a partnership with ISHA and Council, and the restaurants have proved equally as popular. But the effect goes further than that, with the whole night-time economy of Walthamstow given a huge boost."

Hill is one of the developers that have endorsed the Council's new Design Charter; launched last month. The Charter sets out 10 key urban design principles that

"Bringing a cinema back to the borough was a key objective of the Council, and the restaurants have proved equally as popular."

Waltham Forest Council."

The Council's Cabinet Member for Economic Growth and High Streets, Cllr Clare Coghill, told Waltham Forest News: "The Scene has been a great success and had a truly transformational impact on Walthamstow town centre.

"Bringing a cinema back to the borough was a key objective of the will guide all future development in the borough, both in relation to the quality of housing and the wider 'place-making' elements of new development.

The Charter will come in handy in relation to a host of new development proposed for Walthamstow. Hadley Property Group has announced plans to build 450 homes on the former South Grove car park site close to St James Street Station.

The scheme would also involve demolishing part of the adjacent industrial estate, including Alpha Business Centre. Previous plans for a Morrisons supermarket and 245 homes were approved by Waltham Forest Council in 2013, but Morrisons withdrew from the scheme earlier this year.

Hadley is yet to submit a planning application, but has been talking to local people as part of the pre-planning process. Hadley has also said they are exploring the possibility of building a new health centre in the local area.

There are also plans to replace Central Parade, opposite The Scene, and Juniper House on Hoe Street. As with the South Grove proposals, it is still early days and planning permission has not yet been sought.

However, the two sites are part of the Council's wider approach of utilising Council-owned buildings to meet housing targets and contribute to the vibrancy and offer within the town centre. The Council's Cabinet has agreed to the principle of proceeding with redevelopment and looking to attract a development partner.

Those residents who currently live in Central Parade have been contacted about the plans and the Council is also discussing options of where to relocate their children's social care staff, who currently work from Juniper House.

Winter wellbeing

- Residents can phone 111 to get medical advice over Christmas period
- Measures like the free flu jab protect vulnerable people from illness

Pharmacists can offer advice on how to best look after yourself at home

In the midst of festive fun and Christmas parties, residents are being reminded what to do at this time of year should they get hurt or feel unwell.

The Council, along with NHS Waltham Forest Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) and other local health partners, is committed to helping residents stay healthy and happy. Over the Christmas period, when temperatures typically plummet and some community services experience bank holiday disruption, it's important local people know where they can seek medical help, and they can find out by dialling 111 free of charge.

Throughout the year the NHS 111 service is staffed by fully-trained advisors and experienced clinicians who can help people get the right medical care as quickly as possible.

Dr Anwar Khan, Chair of NHS Waltham Forest CCG and a local GP, said: "During the festive period up to 40 per cent of people who visit A&E do not need to be there, which means there can be long delays if you don't need emergency treatment.

"To make sure everyone is able to get the care they need, it's important to remember that A&E should only be used if you have a very serious or life threatening health problem.

"If you need urgent treatment but it is not life threatening, another local service may actually be able to treat you faster and closer to home. Call the NHS 111 number to get advice on where you should go."

Many services will remain open over the holiday period, such as weekend GP and nurse appointments, pharmacies and some mental health services.

Residents can help protect themselves against common winter illnesses through measures such as the flu vaccination.

Waltham Forest residents who are aged 65 and over, are pregnant, suffering with health conditions such as cancer, diabetes or heart or respiratory diseases, or carers for an elderly or disabled person are entitled to a free flu jab.

All GP surgeries and many pharmacies offer the flu jab free of charge to people who are at risk of developing serious complications.

Children aged two, three and four years are being offered a nasal spray vaccine to prevent them from getting the flu virus, and parents are being encouraged to make an appointment with their local GP. It is less painful and quicker than receiving an injection.

Waltham Forest Council's Cabinet Member for Health and Wellbeing, Cllr Ahsan Khan, said: "For most healthy people, flu is an unpleasant experience with recovery time taking up to a week. However for older people, the very young, pregnant women and those with a long-term health condition, it can have very serious consequences and in some cases people require hospital treatment.

"It's these people we need to protect. It is also important that front line NHS staff and social care staff get the jab to help stop the virus spreading."

Genetics study

Organisers of the world's largest community-based genetics study are running stalls at Walthamstow Library, offering residents the chance to take part. The East London Genes & Health research project studies the genetic code and medical records of local South Asian people – with the aim of improving understanding of the links between genes and environmental factors in causing disease. It is open to adults with and without health problems who regard themselves as Bangladeshi, British-Bangladeshi, Pakistani or British-Pakistani origin. Organisers say the study is needed to help tackle high rates of poor health in Pakistani and Bangladeshi communities.

• Find out more by visiting the stall at Walthamstow Library (High Street, E17 7JN) every Monday, from 10am to 1pm, and Wednesday, from 10.30am to 1.30pm, or visit www.genesandhealth.org.

Fact file

Services open during the holiday period:

■ Weekend GP and nurse appointments

Local people who are registered with a GP can book a weekend GP or nurse appointment by phoning 020 8519 3999 between 10am and 4pm Monday to Friday, or 9am to 5pm on Saturday or Sunday at three GP practices in Chingford, Walthamstow and Leytonstone. The GP walk-in service at the Oliver Road polyclinic is available 8am-8pm, seven days a week if you need to see a GP urgently.

■ Pharmacies

Many common illnesses like coughs or colds can be easily treated by visiting your local pharmacy. Your pharmacist can offer advice on how to best look after yourself at home with rest and over-the-counter medication. There is no need to book appointments and most pharmacies have a consultation room. To find your nearest pharmacy, phone the NHS 111 number.

■ Mental health services

People who need mental health support should phone the Mental Health Direct telephone helpline on 0300 555 1000. It is available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. The helpline team will arrange for a mental health professional to speak to you.

Outdoor gym

Improvements to the borough's parks and play areas have been continuing throughout 2015, with a new outdoor gym the latest addition for Walthamstow's Priory Court Estate. The gym is located alongside the children's play area. It offers a range of equipment, including exercise bikes, a cross-trainer and weights. The gym is suitable for use by all ages, and the equipment has instructions to help you get the most from your workout. The equipment was funded by the Council's £1million Parks and Play fund, which has enhanced 13 play areas and five open spaces during 2015. The Council's Parks Development team undertook a public consultation at a community fun day in the summer to establish which pieces of gym equipment people most wanted installed.

YES you can

Make the most of your brown and green bins over the festive season

Brown bin

Most food and garden waste can be recycled

Use your kitchen caddy for vegetable peelings, tea bags, and leftover food, and empty it into your brown bin.

After the festivities your real Christmas tree can be placed near your brown bin for collection.

Green bin

70% of household waste is recyclable

Use your green bin for all your recyclable wrapping paper, Christmas cards, mixed plastics and glass, cartons, tins and cans.
